Here is the discussion forum for this part of the course. You can post your comments and of course ask questions.

Let us suggest some topics of discussion:

SUGGESTED TOPICS

- Did you run the given examples on different browsers? You might have encountered problems with Safari or Internet Explorer. Did you find polyfills to make the examples fully work on these browsers?

- Did you know that HTML5 input elements and other new features related to forms could be used for building a GUI client-side, with no need to send data to a remote server?
